TOP NOTES

Tonight's 4-3 overtime win was the third straight for the Amerks over Belleville dating back to the first round of the 2022 Calder Cup Playoffs.

The win improved Rochester to 2-0-0-0 at home this season, marking the second straight year the team won its first two home matchups.

The Amerks scored two first-period power-play goals for the second straight home game to begin the season, going 2-for-6 on the night. After tonight, Rochester is now 5-for-15 on the power-play through its first two home contests, giving them a league-best 33.3% conversion rate.

Anders Bjork, who made his Amerks debut after being reassigned by the Buffalo Sabres on Tuesday, scored the overtime game-winner. It was exactly three years to the day of Bjork's last AHL appearance when he recorded two assists for Providence in a 7-4 win over Belleville on Oct. 19, 2019. It was also his first AHL goal since Oct. 13.

Lukas Rousek recorded his first multi-point game with a goal and an assist to take over a share of the team's scoring lead with four points (2+2). He now has goals in back-to-back games for the first time in his AHL career and shows six points (3+3) over his last six regular-season games dating back to last season.

Sean Malone also notched two points, including the secondary helper on Bjork's game-winner. He's now tied with Rousek for the team scoring lead after recording back-to-back multi-point games.
