TOP NOTES

After being held without a goal through his first 11 games this season, Filip Cederqvist scored twice with both goals coming on the power-play. He would later add an assist for a three-point night. As a result, the Amerks have scored 10 power-play goals at home this season, tying for most in the AHL with Rockford.

Rochester has now gone 10-for-28 on the man-advantage through its first six home contests, good for a 35.7% conversion rate, and have recorded multiple tallies on three occasions over that span.

Isak Rosen assisted on Rochester's first two goals, marking his third multi-point effort of the season. After tonight, the rookie forward now has five points (1+4) over his last six games and is tied for second among all first-year AHL players with seven assists.

Aleksandr Kisakov scored his first professional goal in the second period and notched an assist on Rochester's go-ahead goal in the third. Mitch Eliot also finished with a multi-point game.

Riley Sheahan has three assists in five games with the Amerks since being reassigned to Rochester earlier this month.

Jeremy Davies recorded his first point as an Amerk with an assist on Cederqvist's first goal of the game.

Despite seeing their season-opening home win streak snapped, the Amerks have recorded points in each of their first six home games to begin the season, going 5-0-1-0 over that span.
